Family Resource Centers in Colorado

The Family Resource Center Association supports and promotes a strong network of Family Resource Centers providing family support systems in Colorado.

What is a Family Resource Center (FRC)?

FRCs provide safe, accessible places for families to receive support. The centers connect families with comprehensive, coordinated services that help them achieve their goals for success. Programs at each center are tailored to the culture, resources, and needs of each community and focus on building on the strengths of each family.

How does FRCA support Family Resource Centers?

We are a collective of non-partisan nonprofit community-based agencies dedicated to serving all families without judgment. The Family Resource Center Association (FRCA) provides backbone support to local FRCs and other entities through trainings, technical assistance, data tools, and evaluation expertise. Organizations use FRCA's unique, replicable model that improves family stability, health, and well-being. FRCA supports FRCs to help families achieve their goals and thrive.

Benefits to Colorado population:

- Provides support at no or low cost
- Reflects, and is responsive to, community needs and interests
- Builds communities of peer support for families to develop social connections that reduce isolation and stress
- Is multi-generational, strengths-based, and family-centered

“Family Resource Centers work because we meet families where they are and walk alongside them with dignity and trust. At EVICS, we don’t just provide services—we build relationships that strengthen the whole family. When families feel supported, informed, and respected, they are better able to make decisions that help their children thrive and their futures feel possible.”

—Rut Miller, Executive Director, Estes Valley Investment in Childhood Success, Estes Park, CO
